ORDER:

Andhra Pradesh had taken a leadership position in e-Governance and Information Technology. Consequent on the reorganisation of the State, Government of Andhra Pradesh has developed a blueprint "Re-Imagining Andhra Pradesh – role of e-Governance, Electronics and IT" for development of ICT Industry in the State. As part of blue print the Andhra Pradesh State Enterprise Architecture (APSEA) was taken up by ITE&C department which aims to be a lever for transformational change in the way government services are conceived, designed, delivered and consumed. The Vision of the State of Andhra Pradesh is to use e-Governance as a tool to provide integrated services to its citizens through a free flow of information, and to usher in an era of good governance. The APSEA is an essential first step in the direction.

2. APSEA intends to make the State government future-ready by transitioning to a citizen-centered approach from existing procedures to government services achieved through transformation of the front, middle and back office operations. This will necessitate collaborative working and information sharing between departments, forming a virtual / digital network of departments organized around citizen services and their outcomes. Citizens, being an essential part of the ecosystem, will be informed, engaged and involved to augment inclusiveness. Services will be evaluated for actual outcomes, rather than outputs. The Whole-of-Government (WOG) perspective is strengthened through the use of innovative and sustainable technologies.

3. For this purpose, the State Government proposes to capture of accurate and timely data at field level by various developmental departments occupies a pivotal place. Provision of connected Tablet PCs is key to operational success of the APSEA.
